MEMORANDUM FOR SEE DISTRIBUTION

SUBJECT: U.S. Army Garrison (USAG) Italy Policy Letter #15, Child and Youth Supervision

1. This memorandum explains the installation's child and youth supervision policy. The enclosed table provides information to help parents safeguard their children. In conjunction with the Europe Region's Child and Youth Supervision Guidance, this policy recognizes the unique housing situation of USAG Italy that requires our children to walk further distances than usual. In order to ensure the safety of younger school-aged children, the Commander, USAG Italy, has seen fit to raise the age of children who are allowed to walk to and from school unaccompanied to the age of nine.

2. References:

- b. AR 608-18, The Army Family Advocacy Program.
- c. Uniform Code of Military Justice, Article 134.

- b. Youth: Age 12 through age 17.
- c. Adult: Age 18 or older, or a married person under the age of 18.
- d. Supervision: The act or process of watching and directing what a person does or how something is done.

SUBJECT: U.S. Army Garrison (USAG) Italy Policy Letter #15, Child and Youth Supervision

4. This memorandum establishes policy under which children and youth, from birth through age 17, may be left alone to care for themselves. This policy is based on a child's age, not his/her grade in school. Failure to comply with the requirements described in this policy may result in intervention by military or local national authorities or other community agencies, as well as administrative or judicial action.

5. The primary goal of this policy is to promote the safety of children and youth of USAG Italy. Parents or legally appointed guardians are responsible for the appropriate supervision, health, safety, well-being, and behavior of children in their care, whether physically present or not. Failure to exercise parental responsibilities may constitute neglect.

6. Families with children of different ages living in the same home must arrange appropriate care for all children. It is the primary job of the parent and not of eldest child to ensure supervision of younger children. The age of the youngest child in the home will determine the appropriate level of supervision required.

7. Since each child is unique, every parent, guardian, or designated adult caregiver must exercise reasonable judgment before leaving a child unsupervised. Important variables to consider are as follows:

- a. Maturity of the child.
- b. Child's knowledge of and ability to apply emergency procedures.
- c. Presence of any physically or emotionally disabling conditions.
- d. Accessibility to parents or another designated informed adult.
- e. Number and ages of other children present without direct supervision.
- f. Age-appropriate responsibilities given to the child.

NOTE: Parents of children with an identified attention deficit disorder (ADD), attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), behavioral problem, developmental delay, impulsivity, psychiatric problem, or other physically or emotionally disabling condition that could inhibit their children's ability to make appropriate choices should not give those children the degree of self-management and responsibility described in this policy.

8. The enclosure provides guidance on the level of adult supervision needed for children based on the age of a child or youth. Incidents of unsupervised children will be reported to the military police, which is the designated Family Advocacy Program (FAP) Report Point of Contact (RPOC) who will ensure that incidents are investigated in accordance with reference 2b. The FAP RPOC will forward cases of unsupervised
