By Regional Training Support
Division South

USAG Vicenza has renovated the JMTC TSC Vicenza photo studio on Caserma Ederle, doubling the size of the facility and improving service to the community by creating separate work and changing areas.

The renovated operation reopened for service Nov. 13, said Jim Matheson of Regional Training Support Division South.

The studio, located in Building 93, provides photographic service to almost everyone in the Vicenza Military Community because it is the center for Department of the Army, passport, visa, driver's license, and soggiorno photos, he said.

The renovation expanded the existing studio by 120 percent and added an additional platform for shooting official DA photos and a dressing room, while providing for separation of the working areas and the family waiting area. The expansion and upgrades will double the studio's photo services throughput said TSC Vicenza director, Ivano Trevisanutto.

"The most difficult challenge with the old studio was having the DA photo area essentially in the waiting room. We had a lot of family members with young children doing walk-in service for passports or soggiorni and then there would be a sergeant first class or captain having a DA photo taken, which is critical to their career, all in one room. Everyone was very patient, but you could tell that everyone was uncomfortable with the situation," said Trevisanutto.

"Now we can execute DA photos and the accompanying uniform changes in the back area while servicing the soggiorn, passport and other walk-in customers in the front. It is a much better experience for all involved," he said.

Menist assumes command of USAG Vicenza

By Julie Lucas

USAG Vicenza PAO

The leadership of U.S. Army Garrison Vicenza changed Nov. 15 as Col. Robert L. Menist Jr., assumed the role of commander in a ceremony forced indoors due to poor weather at Caserma Ederle.

Menist comes to Vicenza from Fort Sam Houston, Texas, where he served with the Installation Management Command headquarters in Business Transformation in Korea.

IMCOM Europe Region Director Kathleen Marin presided over the ceremony, tying together the longstanding partnership between Italians and Americans. Marin remarked that the new garrison commander is someone who “knows that dignity and respect are non-negotiable anchors of leadership.”

“Col. Robert Menist views leadership not simply as a career role, but as a vocation,” Marin said. “His measure of success is how he has positively changed the lives of those he leads.”

She noted key garrison employees and awards they helped win for the Vicenza Military Community. She also highlighted Menist’s previous roles and awards.

In his remarks, interspersed with Italian, Menist said how thankful he is to take command of the garrison. He spoke about the history behind Caserma Ederle’s namesake, Italian army Maj. Carlo Ederle, and how his bravery represents unifying values of both Italian and American Soldiers.

“Maj. Ederle was the perfect example of selfless service that both our nations value so dearly,” Menist said. “Maj. Ederle’s service is not forgotten and has become a symbol of the alliance that united our countries in World War I.”

Addressing the many Italian dignitaries in attendance, Menist said, “Although our bilateral relationship is already extremely robust, I am honored as the garrison commander to have the opportunity to strengthen it further. To achieve that, I look forward to working closely with the Italian army and Colonello Edoardo Maggian, Carabinieri and Lt. Col. Lucio Merlo, Polizia, our Italian neighbors and Italian elected officials.”

Grantorto pays tribute to fallen Soldiers

Story and photos by Anna Ciccotti

USAG Vicenza PAO

Sky Soldiers from Company D, 1st Battalion, 503rd Regiment, 173rd Infantry Brigade Combat Team (Airborne) joined with Italian Carabinieri, civilian officials and family members of the fallen in Grantorto (Padova) Nov. 10 for the unveiling of a memorial dedicated to Carabiniere Denis Frison and 1st Sgt. Michael S. Curry Jr.

The joint ceremony was a tribute sealed in the shared pain of loss for the two communities, who assembled to honor their two warriors, who lie in eternal rest in the town's cemetery.

A native of Grantorto, Frison was a veteran of many overseas missions in Iraq, Kosovo, Albania, Pakistan, South Arabia and Afghanistan. He died, July 6, 2006, aged 32, after a brave battle against leukemia that Frison's father said was caused by exposure to depleted uranium during a deployment in the former Yugoslavia.

Curry was 37 when he died in Afghanistan July 23, 2007, of wounds suffered when an improvised explosive device detonated near his humvee during a route-clearing mission in Sarobi District during a deployment in support of Operation Enduring Freedom. Also killed in the attack were Sgt. Travon Johnson, 29, of Palmdale, Calif; Spc. Adam Davis, 19, of Twin Falls, Idaho; and Pfc. Jessy Rogers, 20, of Copper Center, Alaska. The four were Sky Soldiers of the 1st-503rd, 173rd IBCT (A).

In between stateside assignments, Curry lived in Grantorto for five years with his Italian wife, Lucia, and their two sons.

"Our two young citizens, so tragically deceased, are still alive in our memories after more than seven years, along with the pain and the grief for the terrible losses," said Luciano Gavin, Mayor of Grantorto, during the ceremony.

"Through Denis and Michael we wish to pay a tribute to all the Soldiers who sacrificed their lives for their countries and, at the same time, we honor all those who serve in overseas missions, hoping that this monument can help serve the cause of peace," Gavin said.

The idea of a memorial originated with Frison's father, Tranquillo Frison, who wanted his son's sacrifice to be remembered by the townspeople of Grantorto. When his family learned from Curry's widow that Michael and Denis were in fact friends and had known each other in life, he approached the town council for a joint memorial to honor the brave American and Italian soldiers who died too young.

"We have a great deal of pride in Michael and Denis for wanting to go overseas and help other people. I think that was their essence throughout their life. Now my heart is at peace," Frison said, standing next to the stone monument in the town piazza, where his son's name is inscribed next to Michael's in commemoration of their valor and patriotism.

VHS students attend DoDDS STEMposium

By Alexandra Frank

Special to The Outlook

Four students were selected to represent Vicenza High School at the DoDDS Europe STEMposium, a weeklong academic experience that focuses on science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) that is taking place in Oberwesel, Germany, Nov. 17-22

The four VHS representatives are sophomores Canaan York, Victoria Brock and Kameron Curtis, and freshman Tim Ney.

During the symposium in Germany, students from across Europe will work together to devise solutions to real world environmental issues. They will split into action committees and address various scenarios that lend themselves to STEM solutions, working with content area experts who will present information and mentor the students as they apply their math and science skills.

Thinking about the future

All four budding VHS scientists said they intend to pursue a career that involves one or more of the STEM fields. York said he was looking forward not only to learning more math and science, but also the opportunity to meet students from other DoDDS Europe schools.

Brock said she plans to pursue a career in environmental sciences, an interest that inspired her to apply for a place in the STEMposium.

All four of the VHS students said they want to broaden their horizons and knowledge, and the STEMposium will give them ample opportunity to do just that.

"This allows them to think in ways they may not have before," said VHS science teacher Amy Ney, who is accompanying the quartet as chaperone and guide.

The STEMposium is a great opportunity for students because it introduces them to areas of science they may not have known about before, she said.

Curtis, generally recognized as a top student in mathematics and science, has another envelope stretching event lined up immediately upon his return from Germany. He will also participate in the VHS field trip to the University of Modena for a day of math workshops with students from the Liceo Quadri in Vicenza, one of the area schools with which VHS maintains ongoing partnerships in a number of areas.

VMC, DMC wrap up annual AFAP Conference

Story and photos by Laura Kreider

USAG Vicenza PAO

Vicenza and Darby Military Community members gathered to discuss issues proposed by the communities during the annual Army Family Action Plan Conference held at the Golden Lion on Caserma Ederle Nov. 14.

The two communities submitted about 45 quality of life issues for discussion. The working groups focused on some of them to determine which ones may be solved at the local level, or forwarded to a higher command for further consideration.

"We had a team of volunteers who acted as conference staff and working group leaders," said Julia Sibilla, Army Community Service community programs manager, who coordinated the event along with ACS staff members.

Sibilla described how AFAP has helped to improve the quality of life for Army family for 30 years. Since 1983, the conference has been held on Army installations worldwide and has resulted in 128 legislative changes, 184 policy changes and 208 improved program and service changes.

A few significant achievements of the AFAP process include the transferability of GI Bill entitlements, the establishment of school liaison officer functions, military spouse preference hiring and funded student travel. Since 90 percent of AFAP issues are resolved locally, AFAP allows for smaller but still important improvements across the Army as well, she said.

"Although we now have additional means to implement change, such as the ICE system and Info-X, AFAP still allows community members a voice for making positive change in our communities. The conference went very well and 95 percent of the delegates voted that the AFAP process improves the quality of life at Camp Darby and Vicenza," said Sibilla.

Spokespersons for each working group presented summary briefings to the command.

Participating in the conference's youth support group for the second year in a row, Vicenza High School senior Eugenia Johnson said that this year she knew what to expect.

"I believe that this year we made a bigger difference because we were also helping Darby, and it was very beneficial. I think that our group was good because we were all able to give our own opinions while working well together," Johnson said.

Anna Whetston, working with Family Support Group participants, stressed that all the members in her group added to the discussion.

"We started with 17 issues and discussed two, specifically the CYS regulation and the Halloween event," Whetston said. "Talking about the issues and solving the problems really helps the Army as a whole."

Meet the Mayors

Visitors sample culinary specialties during last year's Meet the Mayors event on Caserma Ederle. This year's Italian-American get-together, which features Italian communal leaders mixing and meeting with the Vicenza Military Community, takes place Dec. 3 from 4-6 p.m. in the Golden Lion Conference Center. It's a great opportunity to find out about cultural events in Vicenza and surrounding towns, as well as an opportunity to sample such food specialties as polenta, wine, cured salami, cheese, olive oil and porchetta from Monteviale.

VMC lights up for annual Angel Tree season

By USAG Vicenza PAO

Almost 50 community members crowded the Army Community Service lobby in Davis Hall on Caserma Ederle Tuesday afternoon to kick off the annual Angel Tree program.

Following the opening, Maureen Donahue, wife of U.S. Army Africa Commanding General Maj. Gen. Patrick Donahue, selected the first angel designating a holiday gift recipient from the tree.

Vicenza Military Community members may select an Angel from 65 on the tree in ACS and 65 on the Angel Tree in the Exchange. Participants should drop unwrapped gifts along with the accompanying Angel card in the large metal bin in the PX customer service area by Dec. 8.

"Angel Tree had its start in 1979 as a Salvation Army program in Lynchburg, Va., as a way to give to those in need," said Maj. Dennis Williams, as he welcomed attendees on behalf of USAG Vicenza Garrison Commander Col. Robert Menist. "Here in a small community Angel Tree means even more."

Voluntary gift from the heart

Williams said that the program is voluntary and that selecting an Angel is "a commitment to a child, a gift from the heart."

A number of students represented their classmates in Vicenza Middle School in selecting Angels from the tree. Eighth-grader Kate Wilkins said her two Angels would be presented to one of the advisory classes at the school to contribute toward gifts.

Ryland Edwards, also a VMS eighth-grader, joined other students in selecting two Angels. "I think it's great. I haven't done this in a while. It brought warmth to my heart that we're helping kids not as fortunate," he said.

ACS Community Programs Manager Julia Sibilla said, "This is my absolute favorite event where the community comes together voluntarily." She thanked John Perfetti, a former Soldier and family member who now serves with ACS as the Mobilization and Deployment specialist, for organizing this year's Angel Tree.

Perfetti said, "The thing that is neat about the Angel Tree program is that it is organized and participated in by volunteers, from the community and also within ACS, helping first sergeants take care of Soldiers. It is a community service by members of an organization known for community service. It's anonymous, direct, specific giving."

Send SiriusXM radio holiday greetings

By Rick Blackburn

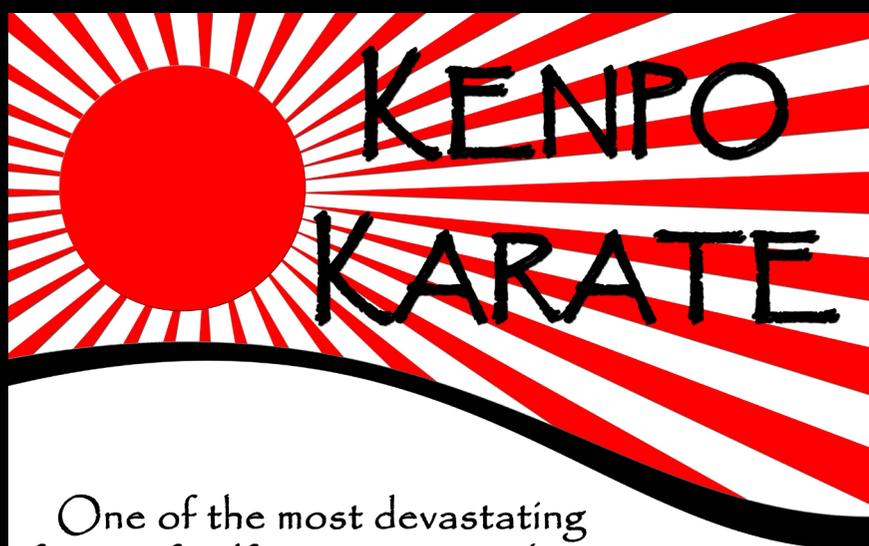

Defense Media Activity

Joint Hometown News Service has partnered with SiriusXM radio to allow military men and women anywhere in the world to send holiday greetings to their loved ones back home. No matter your location, if you are serving in uniform, you can call a toll-free or DSN number to leave a message for airing through New Year's Day on SiriusXM's Holiday Traditions channel.

To record your message, call toll-free 888-776-2790 or DSN 312-733-4660. Callers will hear a recording at either number explaining the rights of SiriusXM to the recording and specifying the simple format to use.

Callers should start with their rank, full name, hometown and location where stationed; then give a quick greeting to family and friends and mention where they are.

Callers may make multiple, separate greetings. Keep your holiday message brief to gain more frequent airplay.
